4-Day Drive For Leukemia Funds to Open

More than 20,000 volunteer doorbell ringers will be in the field today in a countywide effort to raise a minimum of $150,000 for the Leukemia Society by Sunday.

The four-day, door-to-door march has been ordered because leukemia's ever-increasing attack on human life "requires a crash program of research and discovery," according to actor James Arness, 1962 fund chairman.

Efforts are now being made to produce an antileukemia vaccine on the strongly supported theory that the disease is virus caused.

Bruinsma Asks King To Debate

Efforts to arrange a series of joint personal appearances with Ted Bruinsma, Republican candidate for the 17th Congressional District, and Rep. Cecil King, the Democrat incumbent, were announced this week by Bruinsma.

The GOP candidate issued the challenge for public debates after conferences with top GOP and Congressional leaders in Washington, D.C., which included a personal visit to Congressman King.

"We want the voters to recognize the distinct choice facing them in choosing their Congressional representative for the next two years," Bruinsma said when issuing the challenge.

Bruinsma has charged the Democrat incumbent has a "bigger government, take-our-money to Washington," philosophy while he believes in less government meddling and a "more dollar value in take-home pay."

"The best way to point up the choice is by a series of joint personal appearances," Bruinsma said.

John Sonneborn is chairman of the Bruinsma for Congress Committee.
